

Julie Hammer

Partner, Chief Engagement Officer • jhammer@mettleandrise.com • 847-815-2859

- College athletics innovator and administrator whose expertise cuts across a broad spectrum of higher education, from the conference level to university setting, and from public relations to career coaching
- Spent more than 15 years at Northwestern University, in a variety of roles, including sport administration, career designing, curriculum creation, public relations, donor, alumni, and employer relations, events, and letter winner engagement
- Drove the vision, financing, planning, design and construction of the $6.2 M endowed Kabiller NU for Life program, the first of its kind in college athletics, focused on amplifying over 500 student-athlete's professional development and tapping into the power of alumni networks
- Currently serving as instructor in Quinnipiac's School of Business' Sport Management program following several years as an instructor and thesis advisor in Northwestern's Master's in Sports Administration program