

As the Senior Associate Athletics Director at the University of Notre Dame, Claire leads Strategic Initiatives for the Department and serves as the Sport Administrator for the Women's Soccer team.

Claire earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in American Studies from the University of Notre Dame, where she was a member of the 2004 National Championship soccer team. She later earned a law degree from Washington University in St. Louis and a Master's in Higher Education Administration and Policy from Northwestern University.

After practicing law in her hometown Dallas, Texas, Claire began her career in higher education at Lake Forest College, where she provided career counseling to undergraduates. She returned to the University of Notre Dame to lead the office of student-athlete development, where she has been an integral part of the athletics department for almost a decade. Claire's contributed to Notre Dame initiatives enhancing mental health, career development, sexual assault prevention, drug and alcohol education and testing, leadership development and several other issues designed to enhance the student-athlete experience.

Claire currently leads the Department's Name, Image, Likeness and Ideas team, collaborating closely with colleagues across the institution to develop and implement policy and educational resources to empower Notre Dame student-athletes to maximize their NILI opportunities.

She and her husband, Dan, reside in South Bend and are the proud parents of Charlie (4), Max (3), and Violet (2).
